

MARCH 13, 1983

FRIDAY ON TELEVISION

8:00 A.M.—Discussion on what responsibility police and court officials have in protecting juveniles in jail. Jan Peterman and Jack and Patricia Kelly, whose sons died in jails, and Rabbi Bernard Stefansky of the Long Island Police Department on "Donahue." Ch. 4.

9:00 A.M.—Lindsay Wagner; an examination of spina bifida; who's who among American teens; and the Please Touch Museum in Philadelphia, on "Hour Magazine." Ch. 4.

11:00 A.M.—Julie Brown Wolf of the American Indian Center; Elizabeth Scully of Stop Custer's Revenge Action Movement; and Pauline Bart, University of Illinois sociology professor, discuss x-rated video games that portray violent, racist and sexist themes, on "Donahue." Ch. 41.